straints on desertion, but actually encourage sallors to quit whenever the wages of the port at which the ship arrives are higher than those paid by the vessel. The law provides that any seaman upon arrival at any port in the United States can demand one-half of the wages due him, and if refused can recover in the Federal courts all wages due him and go in search of a better job. The sponsors for the new law therefore predict that ship owners will be compelled to offer greater inducements to seamen and that a higher level of wages will ensue.

washington, Nov. 4.—Fears of WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Fears of shipping interests that the new Seamans' Law, which went into effect to-day, would operate to delay schedules of vessels due to leave ports to-day were dispelled by an order issued by Acting Secretary Thurman of the Department of Commerce. This order provides that vessels which had made a bona fide effort to comply with the requirements of the law would be allowed to clear despite their inability to secure a crew in strict accordance. to secure a crew in strict accordance with the act.

Wreck Off Oregon Const.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Nov. 4 .- The exact loss of life, resulting from the wreck of the North Pacific Steamship Company's steamer Santa Clara, which went ashore, was unknown to-day. The number of bodies recovered still stood at eight, but it was believed that Jack Farrell of Oakland, Cal., mess boy, and the first assistant engineer, whose and the first assistant engineer, whose name is not listed, were among the dead. They were in a lifeboat, which capsized. All the recovered bodies have been identified.

Nine passengers had not been accounted for to-day, but all were thought to have been reascued.

Capt. August Loftstedt said that the wreck was caused by the jamming of the Santa Clara's steering gear just after she had crossed the bar.
